

Title: The Role of Professional Ethics in Preventing Financial Violations in Sports Organizations

Author: Monireh Nazari RastehKenari

Affiliation: Rasht Municipality, Iran

Corresponding Author: Monireh Nazari Rasteh Kenari

Email: nazari@yahoo.com

Abstract

Background & Objective:

In recent years, the increasing financial violations in sports organizations have led to a decline in public trust and have negatively impacted the integrity and performance of these institutions. This study aims to examine the role of professional ethics as a preventive factor in reducing financial violations within sports organizations.

Methods:

This research was conducted using a descriptive-analytical approach, based on library studies and a review of existing literature on professional ethics and financial misconduct in sports.

Results:

The findings indicate that having clear ethical frameworks, continuous training in professional ethics, and institutionalizing values such as honesty, responsibility, and transparency significantly contribute to reducing the likelihood of financial violations.

Conclusion:

Strengthening professional ethics should be considered a strategic approach by managers and policymakers in sports organizations. Implementing ethical codes, regularly evaluating financial practices, and fostering a culture of accountability are among the key solutions to ensuring financial health and transparency in these institutions.

Keywords:

Professional ethics, financial violations, sports organizations, honesty, transparency